

SURVEY: Interest in Full-Text DB Access

Korean Studies

interest

* Do you already have access through your university or other institution to major full-text academic data bases?

Choose one of the following answers

- I'm pretty much all set -- no real need for any further access.
- Have access, but only to major WESTERN full-text services.
- Have access, but only to major KOREAN full-text services.
- Have access in theory, but can't usually use it, other than directly at my institution.
- Have some access, but not to USEFUL full-text services such as ProQuest dissertations or JSTOR (journal articles).
- Have no regular institutional access to full-text DBs.
- Have access, but only by asking colleagues or friends to loan their access passwords, or by asking them to get certain documents for me. [NOTE: the survey is completely anonymous, no worries...]

*

What is your status as regards to KOREAN STUDIES or ACADEMIA?

Check any that apply

- I am a student or a professor or have some other academic job and am working professionally on Korea.
- I am a retired academic (but of course never truly retired).
- I am some sort of hobbyist in Korean Studies (or a related field).

Given you are among those not all set and happy with your current access situation to full-text academic data bases, on a scale of 1 to 5 (whereby 5 is most important), how important would you consider the need or advantage of having access to all the major journals, dissertations, and other sources -- IN THE WEST (USA, Europe)?

1 2 3 4 5 No answer

Given you are among those not all set and happy with your current access situation to full-text academic data bases, on a scale of 1 to 5 (whereby 5 is most important), how important would you consider the need or advantage of having access to all the major journals, dissertations, and other sources -- IN KOREA?

1 2 3 4 5 No answer

*

Given you were offered such access, how much would it be worth to you -- that is, how much would you be willing to pay at the maximum to download [The NUMBERS below stand for the full amount is USD -- e.g. 2 = $2.00]

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
a dissertation	<input type="radio"/>
published book	<input type="radio"/>
journal article	<input type="radio"/>
book review	<input type="radio"/>
newspaper article	<input type="radio"/>
other source documents	<input type="radio"/>

* Within one year, how many articles, dissertations, and other documents do you expect to download or access, given pricing would be reasonable and match your expectations.

Only numbers may be entered in this field.

Any comments and suggestions? Please note them here -- and do NOT sign by name, to keep this anonym.

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin black border, intended for the main content of a survey or questionnaire. It is centered within a white frame that is itself set against a dark gray background.

Exit and clear survey

Resume later

Submit