Professor (W2 salary bracket) in International Political Economy of East Asia

Ruhr-Universitaet Bochum -Faculty of East Asian Studies

The Ruhr-Universität Bochum (RUB) is one of Germany's leading research universities. The University draws its strengths from both the diversity and the proximity of scientific and engineering disciplines on a single, coherent campus. This highly dynamic setting enables students and researchers to work across traditional boundaries of academic subjects and faculties. The RUB is a vital institution in the Ruhr area, which in 2010 served as the European Capital of Culture.

The Ruhr University Bochum - Faculty of East Asian Studies invites applications for the position of a Professor (W2 salary bracket) in International Political Economy of East Asia to start on 1 October 2014.

The future holder of the post will represent the subject of the International Political Economy of East Asia in research and teaching. The successful applicant should further actively cooperate in the implementation and international promotion of a new MA programme in International Political Economy of East Asia. Languages of instruction are German and/or English. Fluency in at least one East Asian language (Chinese, Japanese, Korean) as well as a background in International Political Economy, East Asian studies, Political Science, Sociology, or a neighbouring social science are expected.

Positive evaluation as a junior professor or equivalent academic achievement (e.g. habilitation) and evidence of special aptitude are just as much required as the willingness to participate in the self-governing bodies of the RUB and to generally get involved in university processes according to RUB's mission statement.

We expect furthermore:

- high commitment in teaching
- readiness to participate in interdisciplinary academic work
- willingness and ability to attract external funding
- a strong publication record in international academic journals
- experience in research and teaching in East Asia
- ability to cooperate with non-university institutions

The Ruhr-Universität Bochum is an equal opportunity employer. We actively seek international applications. Non-native German speakers are expected to acquire adequate knowledge of German as a working language for administrative purposes within three years.

Complete application with documents including name, affiliation and contact details for three academic references should be sent to the Dean of the Faculty of East Asian Studies, Ruhr-Universität Bochum, D-44801 Bochum, no later than 2013-9-29. Further information is available on our website at the Apply button below.
