

The Center for East Asian Studies presents:

"China's Perspective on Korean Nuclear Issues"

Dr. Ren Xiao, Fudan University, China

Tuesday, November 12, 2013

4:30pm--5:30pm

Maryland Room (Room 0100), Marie Mount Hall

Dr. Ren Xiao is a professor of international politics at the Institute of International Studies (IIS), Fudan University, Shanghai, China, and the director of the Center for the Study of Chinese Foreign Policy at IIS. His research concentrates on theory of international politics, international relations of the Asia-Pacific region, Northeast Asian security, and Chinese foreign policy. His recent publications are, among others, New Frontiers of China's Foreign Relations (co-editor with Allen Carlson) (Lanham, MD: Lexington Books, 2011), "Traditional Chinese Theory and Practice of Foreign Relations: A Reassessment" (book chapter, Routledge 2010), and "Between Adapting and Shaping: China's Role in Asian Regional Cooperation." He received his Ph.D. in political science from Fudan University in 1992.

Dr. Ren will be introduced by Dr. Margaret Pearson, Professor, Department of Government and Politics.

This event is FREE and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served.

If you plan to attend, please RSVP to Denise Shupiko at dshupiko@umd.edu

Sponsored by the Center for East Asian Studies (CEAS) and the Department of Government and Politics at the University of Maryland. For more information on this and other CEAS events, please visit our website at www.ceas.umd.edu/events/events.html