

SCHEDULE

Academy of Korean Studies Laboratory Program for Korean Studies

Seoul National University Workshop

Korean at the Nexus of Northeast Asian Linguistic Area

October 26-27, 2018

Seoul National University

October 26, Friday

Shinyang Humanities Hall 302

- |                   |   |
|-------------------|---|
| 9:00-9:15 AM      | WelcomeSungdai Cho (SUNY-Binghamton)  |
| 9:15-10:00 AM     | John Whitman (Cornell University)Korean at the Nexus of Northeast Linguistic Area   |
| 10:00-10:45 AM    | Andrej Malchukov (Johannes Gutenberg University Mainz)On Some Syntactic Isoglosses between Tungusic, Korean and Japanese                                    |
| 10:45-11:00 AM    | Coffee Break  |
| 11:00-11:45 AM    | Ekaterina Gruzdeva (University of Helsinki)Morphosyntactic Transformation of Nivkh in the Context of the Amur Linguistic Area                               |
| 11:45 AM-12:30 PM | Juha Janhunen (University of Helsinki)Amuric – the Forgotten Protohistorical Northern Neighbour of Korean   |
| 12:30-2:00 PM     | Lunch   |
| 2:00-2:45 PM      | Seongyeon Ko (Queens College, CUNY)A Comparative and Typological Investigation of Vowel Harmony Systems in Altaic, Northeast Asian and Beyond               |
| 2:45-3:30 PM      | Alexander Vovin (EHESS-CRLAO)East or West, but Korean is the Best: On the Centrality of Koreanic in the Early Medieval Language Contacts in North-East Asia |
| 3:30-4:15 PM      | Jinho Park (Seoul National University)Morphological Complexity in North-East Asian Languages  |
| 4:15-4:30 PM      | Coffee Break  |
| 4:30-5:15 PM      | Seongha Rhee (Hankook University of Foreign Studies)   |

| Grammaticalization in Korean

5:15-6:00 PM | SeungJae Lee (Seoul National University)
Phonological Oppositions in Affricate Consonants of Early Middle Chinese

6:00-6:45 PM | Zev Handel (University of Washington)
Reconstructing Early Middle Chinese Sibilant Consonants: Implications of Old Korean Phonological Oppositions

October 27, Saturday

Shinyang Humanities Hall 302

9:00-9:15 AM | Welcome
John Whitman (Cornell University)

9:15-10:00 AM | James Hye Suk Yoon (University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign)
Lexical and Syntactic Nominalizations in Korean

10:00-10:45 AM | Heejeong Ko (Seoul National University)
Right-dislocation in Korean

10:45-11:00 AM | Coffee Break

11:00-11:45 AM | Yutaka Sato (International Christian University)
A Copula Functioning as a Light Verb in Korean

11:45 AM-12:30 PM | Seunghun Lee (International Christian University)
Phonetics of /h/ Following Plosives in Two Korean Dialects: Seoul and Gwangju

12:30-2:00 PM | Lunch

2:00-2:45 PM | Chung-hye Han (Simon Fraser University)
On-line Evidence of Island effects in the Korean Relative Clause

2:45-3:30 PM | Jaehoon Yeon (SOAS University of London)
Diaspora Varieties of Korean: Morpho-syntactic characteristics of Korean in Central Asia and Yanbian

3:30-3:45 PM | Coffee Break

3:45-4:30 PM | Sungdai Cho (SUNY at Binghamton)
Valency Alternations in Korean

4:30-5:15 PM | Ho-min Sohn (University of Hawaii)
Subjectivity and Intersubjectivity in Korean Grammar

5:15-6:00 PM | William O'Grady (University of Hawaii)
Issues in the Study of Jejueo