

Postdoctoral Teaching Fellow in Korean Studies: Lewis & Clark College, a private liberal arts college with 2,200 undergraduates, invites applications for a two-year teaching postdoctoral position in the Asian Studies Program, beginning fall of 2022. The teaching field is modern and contemporary Korea. Examples of specializations include, but are not limited to international relations, environmental studies, political economy, popular culture, and art history. Fellows teach three courses per year in the fellow's area of expertise. Lewis & Clark has a well-developed mentorship program for junior faculty. This is a unique opportunity for a recent Ph.D. to develop as a teacher and scholar. Ph.D. required at the time of appointment.

A complete application must include: (1) a cover letter that includes statements of research interests and teaching experience, teaching philosophy, and a description of how the applicant's teaching will contribute to a culture of inclusion and campus diversity; (2) a curriculum vitae; (3) evidence of teaching effectiveness; (4) official graduate transcripts; (5) three letters of recommendation (uploaded separately by the referees). All materials should be addressed to Director David Campion, Asian Studies Postdoctoral Committee, and must be submitted via Interfolio. Click "Apply" to create your free account. Review of applications will begin on February 15, 2022, and continue until the position is filled.

Lewis & Clark College will conduct background checks on the finalist.
